The Newspaper Puff.

The new8paper puff is something that makes men feel bad-if they don't get it. The groundwork of the ordinary newspaper puff consists of a good moral character and a good bank account. Writing newspaper puffs is like mixing sherry cobblers and mint juleps all through the summer months for customers and quenching your own thirst with rain water. Sometimes a man is looking for a puff and don't get it; then he says that the publication is going down hill, and that it is in the hands of a monopoly, and he will stop subscribing if he didn't have to pay his bill first. Writing a newspaper puff is like taking a photograph of a homely baby. If the photograph doesn't represent the child with wings, and halos, and harps, and things, it shows that the artist does not understand his business.

So it is with the newspaper puffif the puffee doesn't stand out like St. Joseph. the bold exponent of truth and morality, it shows that the puffer doesn't understand human nature. It is ground for the new depot at St. more fun to see a man read a puff of Louis. himself than it is to see a fat man slip up on an grange peel. The narrow-minded man reads it over seven or eight times, and then goes around Vincent. town to the different places where the paper is taken, and steals what copies he can. The kind-hearted family man goes home and reads it to his wife, and then pays up his bill on the paper. The successful business man, who advertises and makes money, starts immediately to find Marshall, the newspaper man and speak a word of grateful acknowledgement and encouragement. ETTA BAIN, the young girl arrested for the attempted burning of Wm. H. Carpenter's house near Avalon, recently, an account of which appeared in the News. Circumstances since then have occurred which serve in some measure to mitigate the seriousness of her crime. She has confessed to the prosecuting attorney to having fired the house. and implicated a young man living in the neighborhood by the name of Willard Odell in the plot. She said the plan was laid by Odell four weeks before commission of the act; that she was to fire the house and that he would take a team and wagon of Carpenter's and they would leave for parts unknown and get married. She claims that on the night of the fire Odell went to Avalon to stay all night to ward off suspicion and that he came to the house the next morning about 4 o'clock, bringing the coal oil with him: that he saturated the side of the house and porch with it and then passed it in to her and that she emptied the contents of the can into the wardrobe and set fire to it. She said that Mr. Carpenter and wife, with one of the children were sleeping in a different portion of the house, while she and the youngest, aged about two years, were sleep ing together, and when she saw the flames leaping up she thought of the baby who might perish and she ran back to her room to rescue it. She then thought of the other child that she could not see burn and when she thought of Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, whom she had nothing against and who had always treated her well, her heart failed her and she gave the alarm and told Mr. Carpenter that his house was on fire, and by prompt action the burning wardrobe was picked up and thrown out of doors and the building was saved.
